gineer commission, with power to act, of three persons, one representing national and the other two the authority of the separate states, would seem to be ample. The result of their work could be submitted to the states concerned, for legislative approval.

I am not prepared to submit an estimate, because much would depend on circumstances, that is on the present condition of the marks, but I should think $10,000 would cover the cost to the three states, leaving out the salaries of the state commissioners.

think $10,000 would cover the cost to the three states, leaving out the salaries of the state commissioners.

Prof. William Bullock Clark, the state geologist, of Maryland, estimates that a fair adjustment of the expense of $10,000 between the three states would be for Penusylvania to furnish $5,000, Maryland, $3,500, and West Virginia $1,500, which adjustment has been arrived at after an estimated measurement of the length of the line and the proportionate expense for the respective states. Professor Clark states that the re-logation of these markers is really a malter of very great importance to the various land interests involved and that he would be very glad to cooperate with representatives from Pennsylvania and West Virginia with a view to having the line properly established under the joint supervision of the respective states and the United States.

REPORT OF THE ATTORNEY GEN-. ERAL.

The attorney general is the law office of the state, and many important legal questions have been referred to him by myself and by the board of public works also. He has acted intelligently. vigorously and properly upon all questions referred to him; and his report will show that he has rendered to the state faithful and efficient service. The state is better off, by many thousand dollars, as the result of his ability and energy. I commend all that he has done, and I am confident that you will approve his actions in his vigorous manner of requiring all parties to account to the people in strict conformity with the requirements of our statutes. STATE INSURANCE.

my instance the board of public orks took up the matter of insurance of the property of the state. It was, and is my opinion that we are carrying property of the state than should be property, and its depreciation by age lieved that the policies were not carefully written, nor were they, according to insurance rules, properly concurrent. In cases of loss, insurance companies avail themselves of every possible technicality, and in no instance do they ever pay anything above the actual loss by fire. Therefore, to carry excessive in-surance is absolute folly. No business man does it, and a state should not

Or of the entire Insurance upon the state's proporty, it has been ascertained that fortyfour per cent is valid, eight per cent is void, and forty-eight per cent is exces sive. Besides this, the greatest possible diversity in rating the same class of property among the same physical surroundings, occupied for the same purroundings, occupied for the same purposes was also found to exist.

It was likewise further ascertained that during the past twenty years, the state has paid to insurance companies for insurance upon its property, an average of about $5.850 per year, or approximately $116.800, in aggregate, which with Interest at 2 per cent for one-half the twenty rears, will aggregate $151,800; while the entire losses paid by insurance companies to the state, during the same period, will not reach, all told, the sum of $13,000, This shows a loss to the insurance companies of about one and one-tenth per cent of the premiums paid by the state for its insurance.

Under existing circumstances, the premiums paid by the state for its insurance.

Under exiating circumstances, the insurance on the state's property should either be revised in a manner justified by its unparalleled history as an insurance element, when considering the small per cent of losses occurring upon it, or it may be deemed advisable for the state to carry its own insurance hereafter.

The bond-of public works has deemed if expedient to reduce the amount of insurance, upon the state's property to reasonable and moper limits, and has directed that all of the policies shall hereafter be made concurrent.

It has also advised that greater precaulous shall hereafter be taken to present the occurrence of frees in state buildings, and that reasonable sums of money be set apart for this purpose rather than expend unnecessary funds in excessive Insurance.

STATE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

STATE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The commission organized soon after the adjournment of the last session of your honorable body, and employed Prof. I. C. White as state geologist, Work was begun at once, and has been carried on as rapidly as the appropriation would allow. The report of the commission has been carefully prepared, and will be submitted to you for your consideration. The report gives in detail the work that has been uccom plished. I am of opinion that a geological survey of the state should be completed as coor, as possible, because it will be of more real value to West it will be of more real value to West Virginia in the way of its development than any other thing that can be done. The commission, as the report will show, has been greatly hampered because of the smallness of the appropriation for that purpose. Larger appropriations should be made to carry on the work successfully and speedily.

CONCLUSION. My prerogative is only of an advisory character. My purpose is to suggest measures which I believe to be for the best interests of all our people. In conclusion I sincerely hope that all you do may be done with an eye single to the advancement and development of our great state. The joint effort of all our people will make West Virginia even greater than she now is, in all that contributes to the well being, prosperity and happiness of all her peo prosperity and nappiness of the ple.

I wish you a pleasant solourn at the capital, and sincerely hope that your session will be productive of the highest good to all. It will afford me pleasure to render you all the assistance in my power to enable you to carry forward your deliberations as the law making body of our state.

AMUSEMENTS.

Of "A Southern Geutleman," the new play of Mr. Clay Clement, which will be Saturday evening's attraction at the Opera House, it can be said that those who have seen Mr. Clement as Baron Hohenstauffen, in "The New Dominion," and as Mathias, in "The Bells," expect to see a fine piece of character acting, and are not disappointed Briefly, the story of the play is as follows: In the prologue Lieut. Thompson is forced to fight a duel with a black-guard. Philip Durand. Lieut. Joseph Carroll, of the Confederate army, acts as the second of Lieut. Thompson. The latter does not fire at his enemy, and is deliberately shot down by him. His last request to his friend is that the truth concerning his death he kent a truth concerning his death be kept a secret from his wife, who has just become the mother of a little girl. The author of the play proper begins twenty-two years later. Lieut, Carroll is now General Carroll, a courtly old man, a recluse and a scholar. Durand is on the scene, the avowed lover of Arzelia Thompson, the daughter of the man he murdered. The gibl, although be-Anompson, the daugnter of the man he murdered. The glil, although betrothed to Durand, is really in love with General Carroll. General Carrol, discovers the identity of Durand, and Miss Thompson learns the true story of her husband's death, and that General Carroll loves her. ISHAM'S OCTOROONS. John W. Isham's Octoroons will be

Manager Feinler's attraction at the Grand Opera House on January 16, 17 and 18. The Octoroons' entertainment is entirely different from anything similar, being original in conception and replete with new ideas, and the programme intelligently carried out by superior artistes. "The Tenderlon Coon" is the title of the new and original farce comedy, which consists of two acts. The whole is splendid in a musical and comedy line. The company is a strong one, and numbers some forty-live people. Among them are Smart and Williams, Reese Brothers and Douglass, Rastus and Banks, the Brittons, Misses Brown, Elisworth, Wiley, Henry, Patterson, Evans, Welles, Sisters, St. Clair and others equally prominent. and 18. OLIVER BYRON TO-NIGHT.

The dramatic cyclone of the year opens at the Grand to-night, when Oliver Byron will appear in that most en-joyable presentation, "Across the Conjoyable presentation, "Across the Continent," which is probably the most realistic draum of American character ever presented. Mr. Byron will be supported by that beautiful and talented actress, Mrs. Kate Byron, and the famous Byron combination. The drama comprises a prelude and three acts, and holds the closest attention of the audience from beginning to end. One of the most realistic portions of the piece is the wonderful relegraphy of the star, as shown upon the stage with instruments and wires. Mr. and Mirs. Byron and company may expect a royal reception.

ONE WEEK OF MUSIC. The commencement of the opera sea-son at the Opera House for one week January 16, with matinces Wednesday January 16, with matthees weunessay and Saturday, is an announcement that is well received. As is usually the case, forecasts were rife as to the probable action of the various directories in session, which were utilized for effect upon the market value of the securities interested. The most important development was the action of the Louisville & Nashville directors in replacing the stock in the most important development was the action of the Louisville & Nashville directors in replacing the stock in the category of dividend payers. The report submitted for the six menths ending December 31 showed total income as $4,437,622 and surplus of $14,257,202, after dedusting fixed charges and sinking fund' requirements. This exhibit prompted the management to declare a dividend of 1½ per cent out of the earnings for that period, which may foreshadow a regular annual disbursement of 5, per cent. The dividends on this property were suspended in 1893 and a reduction of 10 per cent was made in the salaries of employes, with a proviso that they would be restored when carnings warranted it. This promise was carried out last year, and the successive favorable character of the trafic statements published aroused expectations with the investment public that the dividends would soon be declared on the stock. The proceedings of the sugar directors were also viewed with considerable interest, as it was Intimated that some publicity would be given of the result of the company's operations in the pending trade war. The stockholders' ratification of the action of the directors in voting to reserve the profits of the company as working capital was interpreted by the bears as indicating a possible abandonment of dividend payments. The stock was thrown on the market in large volume, and sufficed to check the aggressive upward movement which was in progress on the announcement that the senale committee had agreed to report without amendment the peace treaty. The market in general presented other features of striking interest, including, as it did, an outburst of investment buying which improved the standard shares from 1 to 4 points. The vanderabil stocks were unusually prominent, and a burst of animation and strength which lifted Pennsylvania 4½ points exercised a healthful influence on the entire market. The specialities, aside from Sugar, moved in comparatively narrow limits, and figured very moderately in the day's total. E rectors in replacing the stock in category of dividend payers. Th

CHICAGO-Heavy buying orders to day brought about by an enormous clearance at the scaboard caused a sharp cally in wheat, May closing 15c higher. Corn rose Mc, and oats 1400 Mc. Provisions were consistently firm all day and closed at 221/2c up for pork, 10c each for lard and ribs.

Reports of liberal offerings of wheat from Argentina and Russia, together with easier cables from Liverpool gave the market here a weak tone at the out-set. May opened 1260%c lower from 703%c down to 701%c and in less than half an hour it could be bought at 50%c. That was under put, price and there arose a good demand from holders of those privileges who were disposed to take profits. Corn about this time began to show recuperative strength after earlier weakness and the buying of wheat became sufficiently urgent to cause a quick recovery of May to 70½c. This feature of the crop movement acted as a weighty argument in favor of the bears during the forenoon and helped to check buying on any extensive scale. Another bearish influence during the early trading was the complaint of shippers of lack of bids and the few received they claimed to be hopelessly unworkable. When the clearances from the Atlantic ports for the day were placed at 1.24,000 bushels it completely turned the tables on the early short sellers and caused a rapid advance from around 70½c for May to 70½c, the latter point being reached about twenty minutes before the end of the session. New York reported a good inquiry for wheat from the continent and claimed fifty beat loads had been disposed of. The rise inaugurated by the heavy export clearances continued to the end. May selling as high as 71½c and closed at 71e buyers.

Large receipts, lower cables and the decline in wheat weakened corn early. May opened 1.50½c lower and caused off to 50½c during the first half hour. At the end of that time buyers commenced to show themselves in considerable numbers and May was bid up to 37½c. Prediction of unsettled weather and clearances of nearly a million bushels were end such the first carly dip and closed at the top price of the day. A good demand from the country and small offerings strengthened outs. These harp advance in corn near the end was reflected in oats and the market closed very strong. May opened a shade lower at 27½c, sold sparingly at 27½c, then rallied to 27½c, the closing price. Small hog receipts and an excellent export demand strengthened provisions. Orders from the outside were numerous on the buying side and commission houses were also taking on long lines. This aggressive buying resulted in a s top price for the day. May pork opened 5074c higher at $10 05010 10. declined to $10, then advanced to $10 024, the closing price. May lard began 12cc better at $5.724c, sold at $5.7055 724, then ralled to $5.85 at the close. May ribs started 25465c up at $5.074c, weakened to $5.072c, then improved to $5.124c, the closing figure.
